My Aim in Life

The aim is the target or point that one could achieve. Through aim, we set goals in life and we will be able to meet our goals. After fixing our aim we do hard work and put in a lot of effort to achieve our aim. Having ambition is necessary for life. If we fail to succeed in our aim, we should not lose faith. Try again and again to get success. Life is meaningless without aim.

The aim is the purpose of your success. When we wish to become a doctor, a pilot, an engineer, then aim helps us to achieve our dream.

My aim is to become a Doctor. I like the medical profession. A doctor saves thousands of lives. The doctor gives hope to sick people. After becoming a doctor, I will do a free medical checkup for poor people. I would inform people about cleanliness. Although it is not easy to be a doctor because a doctor has great responsibilities. I will work hard and pay attention to my studies to become a future doctor. Doctors are considered to be respectful in society.

The foremost step to achieving our ambition is to set the right and high purpose. In achieving our goal, we have to cope with the great difficulties of life. We have to face many hurdles. Obstacles will come in our way. But we should not lose hope and try to achieve our goal of whatever we want to become. I want to become a surgeon. This is my desire. I will do an effort and will not move from my target until I become a doctor.

A person who does not set goals in life spends a meaningless life. Everyone should have some ambition in life. Aim gives purpose and meaning to our life. Aim differs from person to person.
